Permissions to publish images

The authors declare that they have the necessary permissions to use the images included in the article.

The Revista Panamericana de Comunicación and Centros Culturales de México A.C. are exempt from any liability for possible claims for the use of these images.

Articles involving the use of artificial intelligence tools

The Journal adopt the WAME Recommendations on ChatGPT and Chatbots in Relation to Scholarly Publications:

- 1) Only humans can be authors. Chatbots cannot be authors.
- 2) Authors should be transparent when chatbots are used and provide information about how they were used.
- 3) Authors must take public responsibility for their work. Authors are responsible for the work performed by a chatbot in their paper, including the accuracy of what is presented, and the absence of plagiarism, and for appropriate attribution of all sources (including for material produced by the chatbot).
- 4) Editors use appropriate tools to help them detect content generated or altered by AI and these tools must be available regardless of their ability to pay.
- 5) Editors and reviewers not use of chatbots in the evaluation of manuscripts, reviews and correspondence.

Authors are responsible for the review, validation, and verification of all results generated by language models.

In the event of any dispute regarding the content or authorship of the article, responsibility shall lie exclusively with the authors; therefore, the Revista Panamericana de Comunicación and Centros Culturales de México A.C. are exempt from any form of liability.

Finally, we request that you maintain the conversation histories for each LLM, as these may be requested as evidence.

Please specify the use of Generative AI below:

Proposed Reviewers

Authors may provide suggestions for reviewers specializing in the subject matter of their article. These will be taken into account by the editor if necessary and after verifying, as far as possible, that no conflicts of interest exist between the author and the reviewer.

Rights and Conflicts of Interest

The undersigned authors transfer partial copyright of the final paper to the Revista Panamericana de Comunicación.

It is also declared to have respected the ethical principles of research and to be free of any conflict of interest.
